ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE SCHOOL
PRESENTS

1987-1988

FRIENDSHIP STARTS HERE

From the first day that each of us set foot in St. Michael's College School, the school motto, "Teach me goodness, discipline, and knowledge" has been permanently instilled inside each and every one of us. From that day forward, with the motto as our guide, we became a living part of St. Michael's College School. Unlike the multitude of other high schools in our city, St. Michael's is not just another school; St. Michael's is an active living community.

We the men of St. Michael's are a family. We strive to be the best in everything we do. Working towards this pinnacle of excellence, we not only meet people, but we make friends with them and work together with a common goal. Signs of these friendships and great feelings of comradery can easily be seen in every aspect of our daily lives. Each morning, we unite in spirit and in prayer, giving thanks to God, asking for strength from Jesus, and looking to the Spirit for guidance. We look to Jesus as our perfect example of what a true friend should be. Our schedules are filled with events where we as a family of friends work together to help the needy in our community. Together, we attend prayer vigils, we have food drives for the needy, we offer our services to others, we help bring food to those who can't prepare it themselves and we celebrate Mass together on a regular basis. We are active in our community and through this we are being true friends to the community as well as to each other. The friendships that we have now are relationships that we value and will always value, for it is through our friends that we grow and become true loving Christians.

FRANCESCO P. IENTILE

WE, THE DREAM

He was born in Atlanta, Georgia, on January fifteenth, 1929. He was assassinated on April fourth, 1968. He had a dream. His dream was that his children would grow up in a country that would judge them on the content of their character, not the colour of their skin. He wanted everyone of all colours, races and religions to live together in harmony.

We, the students of St. Michael's College School are a fulfillment of this dream. As you look through this yearbook, you will see faces of different backgrounds: Canadians, Italians, Portugese, Spanish, West Indian, East Indian, Ukranian, Chinese, Japanese, Korean, and some students who are a combination of these, and other, backgrounds.

In his time, this type of school was unheard of; it was unimaginable, except in the minds of this great man and his followers. I am not saying that this school is the utopia that he dreamt of, we all have our prejudices that will probably always remain with us, but it is a giant step toward the goal he so badly wanted to achieve. In an era such as his, of segregated schools, washrooms, buses, restaurants, stores, hotels and water fountains, it would seem skeptical that a school such as ours would ever exist. But his dream lived on, in the hearts and minds of white people as well as black.

As you look through this book and see classmates of a different background than yours, you should feel privileged and proud that you were able to experience and share in their culture and views. To the graduates, whom this book is really for, remember the many faces of your past. The many teachers, students and staff who were all different from you. And remember that it is this difference that has made you what you are today: a more tolerant and understanding person of people who do not look the same as you.

As you enter the outside world, your experiences will help the world achieve the dream that this man died for. Keeping his dream in mind, it is with great honour and privilege that we dedicate this yearbook to the everlasting memory of Dr. Martin Luther King, Junior.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

One hundred and thirty-five years is a long time

From its humble beginnings in 1853, in a part of the Bishop's house on Church Street, St. Michael's College School, under the direction of the Basilian Fathers, has grown through the ensuing generations to its present stature. Each period of growth and development has had its ups and downs. History will attest to the difficulties and hardships that our forerunners experienced over the years. The present Saint Michael's attests vividly to the fruits of their labours.

As is the case, where years of hard work have resulted in very worthwhile and long lasting endeavours, our sentiments have to be ones of admiration and gratitude to those who have borne the heat and burden of the day. With regards to St. Michael's our response should be a re-dedication to the goals that have inspired so many who have preceded us in the great work of education.

This is all the more timely since at this point in time, we are returning to the type of school for which our founders worked so diligently. In September of 1988 we will once again be a completely independent and private operation. Inspired by the zeal and dedication of our founders, we, the staff, students, parents and alumni can surely carry on and insure that St. Michael's will continue to serve the students who come through its doors so that they, in their turn, will be able to carry on the traditions of St. Michael's which have been and still are embodied in our motto - "Teach me goodness, discipline and knowledge." (Psalm 118). Those traditions which began in 1853 in the Bishop's house on Church Street. One hundred and thirty-five years is a long time

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

Martin C. Farrugia, Editor

A great responsibility was heaved upon my shoulders in September, and since then, the weight of that responsibility has only increased. It was in September of 1987 that Father Cullen asked me to be the editor of The Tower, and I accepted. After several months of long nights, hard work and lost spares, you have before you the 1988 edition of The Tower, the yearbook of St. Michael's College School.

This year, under the direction of Father Cullen, many people helped to put together this first-class publication. And it behooves me, at this time, to make special mention of my Assistant Editor, Frank Ientile, whose help was crucial for the success and completion of this book. As well, there were many others whose help I greatly appreciate and really depended on.

It can never be over emphasized how much time and effort went into the production of this book, but all of our work was worthwhile if just one person can appreciate the book and enjoy it. Hopefully everyone will enjoy The Tower, and treasure their copy as a photojournal of the 1987-88 school year at St. Michael's College School.

This book was produced for you, the staff and students of St. Mike's, and for everyone with whom you wish to share the book, not only as a documentary of the year's events, but as a trophy, awarded to you for making St. Mike's the school that it is. Each and every person connected with the school is responsible for its excellence, and with The Tower, you can always remember the part you played in making this school the great one that it is.

In conclusion, I would again like to thank all those who helped to make The Tower possible, namely The Tower Staff, the school administration, Father McCabe and Father Cullen. I would like to wish everyone in the book the best of luck in the years to come.

Martin C. Farrugia

166 YEARS AND STILL GOING STRONG!

St. Michael's Catholic High School Order celebrated its 166th anniversary on November 15, 1997. The anniversary was marked by a Mass and other festivities. The anniversary Mass was held at St. Michael's, many students joined in to sing hymns and songs. Below are scenes from this Mass, as well as other Masses held at St. Michael's in 1997.

Our Janitorial Staff

Seldom acclaimed but always present is our Janitorial Staff. We take for granted that they perform their tasks with efficiency and thoroughness omitting our gratitude and failing to recognize the value of their service.

In addition to their tasks of keeping the school in proper order, they are often called to set-up platforms arrange chairs and tables, move equipment, keep the cafeteria tidy after tribes of marauding niners have passed through, groom the grounds, remove snow and other debris from our walks and innumerable other tasks.

We are grateful to Caesar, Tony, Ernesto, Joe and Mark for keeping S.M.C. the best there is.

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS

Time will pass. When does it come from? Why do we have it? What if it was taken away from us? What if it is given to us and we take it away? Why is it given to us - only to be taken away? The amount that is given is too much or much too little? When it is gone, then what?

... Mr. Coleman, Your Honour Judge Grossi, Father McCabe, parents and teachers, principals, and fellow graduates.

For all of the questions previously asked, one might be led to believe that I must be extremely brilliant or borderline nuts. However, knowing that I am definitely not crazy and only a few shades below brilliance, I can proceed to possibly answer but a few of them.

Time, a measure of duration; a particular portion or part of duration, whether past, present or future; and either a space or a point, a period or a moment. It is a period in which any definite event occurs; an age, an eternity; a period of life, the present life, a existence in this world; a prevailing state of circumstances.

In searching for a theme for this graduation reflection, I sat down quietly in the library and fell asleep. I was in a nice, deep sleep when the idea of time came quickly into my mind. I practically jumped up from this usual sleeping position, occasionally assumed by many, in some of our more thought-provoking classes, because it hit me so hard. It dawned on me that time would definitely be the best theme since we, the graduating class have literally "done time," at St. Mike's. Now, when I say "done time" I do not mean it in the pejorative sense. I mean ever since that September day in the Home of Champions - St. Michael's Blue Raiders' gym - up until now, the pinnacle of our high school career, we have in the good sense of the term "done time" at this institution.

Remember that September day, five years ago when Father Fitzpatrick greeted us with that "oh so famous" smile and patiently waited (boy, did he have patience) for us to "pile" into the gym and quietly take our seats. When everyone was quiet or appeared to be quiet he began to speak to us about life at St. Michael's - its reputation, its tradition and the transition from grade school into high school. Remember how he made everyone feel right at home when he told us that in grade school as grade 8's we were "the kings of the hill" and nobody could boss us around, because we were the bosses. Do you also remember how he killed our moment of glory by telling us that as grade nines we were now at the bottom of the pile, again as if we were in kindergarten.

There was something else that Father told us and it is this point that I am sure most of us if we did not, then we might not even be here today. He told us, budding, enthusiastic, talented young students, at the time, that we must become immersed in the life of St. Michael. Michael's had a lot to offer; therefore, we must take advantage of it, be it academic, athletic, spiritual or social. We were told that this was part of the St. Michael's tradition and if we were, then we would become part of that tradition too - we would become what we are today - The Class of St. Michael's College School, 1988.

That speech was some "time" ago. It was a moment in our history when brings us to those questions previously mentioned, that need answers. Our time is now - diplomas in hand, smiles expressed across faces, family and friends grinning from ear to ear and teachers happy that we have succeeded. Our moment is a proud one and shall be marked down in the history of life. As we pass through our "time," are now the class of '88. As I look over the congregation here, I can perceive a multitude of sentiments - especially those of the graduating class. Definitely some are smiling, some are nodding, some are paying attention, and some are just nodding and smiling - somewhat like Mr. Thompson. Physically, I have included

I think I can best sum up the sentiments of the class as those of extreme regret, but at the same time, I think I can best address I mean, we practically lived here for eight or twelve years, but I think whatever our discipline was, we definitely left our mark in at least a few ways on this colleties, it can obviously be said that we indeed 'did' something – the opposite. Our athletic career is a time honoured legacy in many of the sports in which we competed – for example baseball, track & field, swimming, hockey, golf and many other sports. Many of our athletes will go on to coach – first at our university and then elsewhere.

On top of that, it's continued with the Man Who Came to Dinner with a cast of nine, including a couple of Oklahoma, the spring musical is a good sized hit. The school's drama club graduates have performed I Wish I Was a Rich Man during the past few years.

With all of that in the past, I would like to continue this graduation reflection by stating that the present "time" is our "time." We the Graduating Class of 1988, in completing the first real test of time, are about to begin our own "time honoured" legacy in which, if we are successful, yet again, then great things will come about. What those great things are will be in relation to one's own notion of greatness.

You see, high school is a process in which we, as students, are encouraged to use the talents with which we were endowed. We graduates are the products of this encouragement, and this process culminates at one juncture in time - graduation. It is a process which takes time and I am positive that when we look back at how long those five years were, we will actually realize that those were the quickest five years of our lives when looked at seriously. Sure, we could not wait to get out but now that we are out I bet not one of us regrets the time it took.

What is graduation? The pinnacle of our high school career bragging rights, to say that we have completed this process called high school. You had better believe it, but more importantly it is a time when family, friends and teachers come to honour us - their graduates. They come to show us that they care and express how proud they are of us. Nothing in the world could feel better right now than having everyone you love at this juncture in time, which, today is the present time, tomorrow it will be past and beyond it will be future, for we are now unleashed into the world and have mighty tall expectations, as we should, only to know that we are loved in return and definitely not alone.

Graduation is an opportunity for us as graduates to show all those around us that after five years of hard work and unending study, it was not all for nothing. Sewn on our chest and instilled into our minds we have acquired goodness, discipline and knowledge and this time is taken for us to show everyone that our motto stands proud today as St. Michael's releases 163 young gentlemen into the world to carry on its reputation and definitely continue the legacy of a winning Christian tradition.

Upon entering the school, each of us had many unique qualities which needed to be fine tuned and now, today, at this ceremony, I feel that each of our unique qualities has definitely been fine tuned through our Christianity, through our motto, through our brotherhood and through our predecessors. It is also through the broadening of our minds that we are now ready to enter into the world for only with a broadened mind can one's peripheral vision take in all that one sees. This school has definitely provided that foundation.

Because we are Christians we have a responsibility to do for others what we would expect them to do for us. Under the spirit of St. Michael's we have to live goodness, discipline and knowledge. As graduates of St. Michael's we have carried that time honoured tradition of immersing ourselves in the Christian life here and being successful at the same time. It is because we have been given the time that we are able to be successful. It is because time is too little to waste that we must take advantage of our future.

Obviously, those questions which I posed at the beginning of this reflection cannot all be answered. Being so, it is only fitting that since we have a strong foundation in the Christian values of goodness, discipline and knowledge and that our "time" is now, we should then take this "time" to hold this special moment in our hearts and hold time still. Keeping in mind those pertinent values and how quickly time flies, we must also march on with time always striving to bring about a positive change in the world.

In closing, on behalf of the Graduating Class of 1988, I would like to take this time to thank all of the individuals who have given their time to us. To our teachers, we would like you to know that we would not be here today without you. It was through your unending commitment to teach that made us work hard in order to reach this zenith of our high school career - we thank you. To our Basilian friends, we thank you for your spiritual guidance and understanding. It was because of your beliefs and trust in us that made it possible for us to broaden our minds.

Finally, to our parents: words cannot begin to express the amount of love and care that you have given us from day one. Today, especially, we realize that we could never have been as successful as we are now without your support.

We know, of course, that all of this has been made possible through God's mercy and love, and so to Him must go our ultimate thanks. Therefore, let us place ourselves in His loving care and protection.

ST. MICHAEL'S SENIOR KERRY BLUES

After an exhibition game, pre-season opener, our Kerry Blues remained undefeated for the rest of the season. The pre-season game with Windsor Assumption High School resulted in a 14-14 tie. The regular season games resulted in six victories over teams in our division, followed by the two play-off wins, the last being the 37-7 victory over Senator O'Connor.

The Kerry Blues had an explosive offence led by Greco, Boddy and Yearwood, backed by a tough and aggressive defence featuring Young, Perrelli and Tiro. Francis Greco was chosen High School Football player of the Year. The outstanding players were Vic "Chunky" Crisculo and Gino "Hitman" Potalivo.

Selected to the league All-star team were: Francis Greco, Glenn Young, Carmine Perrelli, Gabby Yearwood, Ivan Boddy, Lui Tiro, Nick Gentile, Andy Martin and John Zarand.

Five players have accepted scholarships to U.S. Universities: Glenn Young to Syracuse, Carmine Perrelli and Francis Greco to Yale, Ivan Boddy to Harvard and Andy Martin to Cornell.

The Kerry Blues were named "Team of the Year" by City Pulse Sports.

A Blast from the Past

The following message appeared in the 1958 edition of The Tower

A yearbook is more than just a collection of photographs and reading material recording the people and happenings of (1987-88) at Saint Michael's. In later years it grows into a symbol of what was once enjoyed and loved, and is treasured for the memories it holds. That is why the staff has attempted to present a book different in both spirit and format; then, when we look at it in five, ten, or twenty years, we will be able to say, "This was the year (1988), and it was a good year."

Working on a yearbook is something like fighting a war. You battle time and a seemingly hopeless lack of ideas that haven't been done before. Facing a deadline is contemplating desertion under fire. But when the last picture has been taken, the last copy written, the last layout planned, and you look back and see the fun you really had, it all seems worth it.

With sincere pride we present this year's TOWER, hopeful that it will be a distinct credit to our school and faculty - enjoyable to its reader, beneficial to its loyal advertisers and, very important, a lasting memory to our many friendships cultivated here on Clover Hill at Saint Michael's College School.

THE ITALIAN CLUB

The Italian Club under the direction of Mr. C. Grassi, and its elected officers, is one of the most active organizations in our school. The Italian Club Festa, patronized by all students, is a gala social event. In fact, the Italian Club goes far beyond the Italian language and culture. Besides the well attended winter skating party in the arena, the two Italian plays shown here attracted large audiences for two nights in our auditorium.

The Executive:
Nat D'Ercole, Vince Fava, Giuseppe Costantino, Adriano Di Santo, Pasquale Lia.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS OF GREATNESS

It isn't often that a perfect blend of teacher and student leadership is found in one person.

John B. Guerriere, is over thirty-five years in our community, demonstrated the ability of motivating students to achieve a high degree of excellence in their approach to music. His own personal success in the music field has contributed an enviable prestige to St. Michael's as a whole and to our Music Department in particular.

As a student himself, John exhibited outstanding ability and was encouraged by his teachers to continue his studies to perfect himself and pursue teaching as a vocation.

John Guerriere has contributed enormously to the school community. His generosity was communicated to the students as he and they participated in many concerts and musical shows.

After thirty-five years, John B. Guerriere is retiring from St. Michael's as a teacher, but his melodies will linger on. It is easy to visualize him in the middle of a jam session somewhere in the future with his horn pulsating with joy and love of life.

After Thirty-Five Years, John B. Guerriere Is Retiring from St. Michael's As a Teacher, but His Melodies Will Linger on.

THE PARENTS' GUILD

The Parents' Guild functions include the fashion show, card parties, awarding of bursaries and prizes and supervision of student social activities. Parents also act as hospitality committees occasionally for open house and Parent Teacher Interview nights. The Guild is under the capable and resourceful guidance of Father Matthew Mulcahy C.S.B.

ART AND POETRY

DATA MANTRA

For the sake of a peace beyond comprehension

The mortar holding bricks fast
 A'egory, in the realm of our ends,
 The dove crosses fences in grey skies,
 Such is the passing of friends
 A passing through different dimensions
 In space and time, planes
 Beyond difference united in
 This circle. The sharing of change
 In experience and dreams,
 Aspirations found and lost
 Subject to discernment on a Lunch break. Paths crossed
 In and out of convenience, for
 It is the stretching of one's own Parameter, the welcome of
 A stranger in one's emotional home
 That we call friendship
 It calls for no qualification,
 No resume and no references,
 This remarkable and living
 Experience, in the crossing of fences
 Friends for the sake of being friends,
 It is this that gives hope to an otherwise
 Bleak future. To peer through holes
 In society and see oneself in another's eyes Friends forever in knowledge and Experience common - abridged are
 The barriers. Unconditional
 Giving, over valleys and societal scars
 This is our mortar. These yellow
 Bricks held fast by our own ends
 And as the dove crosses fences in grey skies,
 Such is the passing of friends

LOVELY LIFE

Nothing to look back upon
Not a single hope,
Everything to think about
Who'll be able to cope?

It all seems so easy
Not a person to support;
Would like be better
If it wasn't so short?

Lucky little kids
Not a problem around;
Life is so beautiful
So safe and so sound.

Grow up, get a career
Grow old and die.
There's no need to hurry.
No need to cry.

No secrets at all
Nothing to hide.
If life is so great,
Why is there suicide?

PRAYER FOR THE MARION YEAR

Mother of the Redeemer, in this year dedicated to you,
with great joy we call you blessed.
In order to carry out his providential plan of salvation,
God the Father chose you before the creation of the world.
You believed in his love and obeyed his word.
The Son of God desired you for his Mother when he became man to save the human race.
You received him
with ready obedience and undivided heart.
The Holy Spirit loved you as his mystical spouse and he filled you with singular gifts.
You allowed yourself to be led by his hidden and powerful action.

On the eve of the third Christian Millennium, we entrust to you the Church which acknowledges you
and invokes you as Mother.
On earth you preceded the Church in the pilgrimage of faith;
comfort her in her difficulties and trials,
and make her always the sign and instrument of intimate union with God and of the unity of the whole human race.

To you, Mother of Christians, we entrust in a special way
the peoples who are celebrating,
during this Marion Year,
the sixth Centenary of the Millennium of their acceptance of the Gospel.
Their long history
is profoundly marked by devotion to you.
Turn towards them your loving glance;
give strength to those who are suffering for the faith.

To you, Mother of the human family
and of the nations,
we confidently entrust the whole of humanity
with its hopes and tears.
Do not let it lack the light of true wisdom.
Guide its steps in the ways of peace.
Enable all to meet Christ,
the way and the truth and the life.

Sustain us, O Virgin Mary,
on our journey of faith and obtain for us the grace of eternal salvation.
O clement, O loving, O sweet Mother of God and our Mother, Mary!

His Holiness, Pope John Paul II
